MAIN CHARACTER: Angel Goode

Backstory:

Coming from a normal, loving family, our main player character has decided to go out into the world and immortalize themselves in the history books as 'The Biggest Bad That Ever Was'. To succeed in this task, they've decided the most effective way is not to climb the ranks, but to annihilate all the other competitors. The common people consider them a hero, but play along with their delusion so that their hero remains happy.

Physical Description:

Androgynous and very edgy in appearance. On the shorter side, and is visibly in their teens or on the young side. Wears a homemade Supervillain outfit using things like dish-washing gloves and eating utensils, and the curtains from their room.

Addition(s):

- In addition to defeating these villains, they also enjoy stomping on any corrupt superheroes who come their way. The public may not understand this decision as much, and are divided on how they feel about our main protagonist as a result, but their diehard supporters and fans continue to sing their praises for their favorite Supervillain(hero).
- The main character has a lot of hobbies in the STEM side of things, primarily surrounding technology and electronics. They spend a lot of time inventing things inside of their room and are incredibly socially inept.
- Their weakness is any prolonged exposure to things that give them sensory issues

More on Main Character's Parents/Family:

Honestly the Goode family is likely the most loving and normal family possible. Their mom and dad love each other, are both supportive and patient with the Main Character (lots of gentle parenting) and are very proud of their child. The parents even fund the Main Character's hobbies and give a small allowance so they can learn how to manage funds and afford having hobbies.

SETTING(s):

The City:

A large, diverse, and densely populated metropolis. This city is known to harbor multiple of the baddest criminals ever known. The mayor of this city is also the creator of the 'Superhero' program, which was created to combat and eventually solve the rates of super-villains. However, things have not improved in many years, with things always going back and forth constantly. Will our protagonist be able to finally bring about change?

ANTAGONISTS:

Main Antagonist: The Mayor

Background:

In a scheme to win over the people of the city, he had devised a plan to appear as the solution to the extremely rampant criminals with his Superhero Program. Little do the people know, their Mayor actually originally funded the criminal in their pursuits of glory so that crime rates would skyrocket before voting season. Nowadays, he still sends funds and paychecks to the biggest criminals, as well as making intense amounts of cash on the side with his 'Superheroes' and the general public's love towards them.
